Dear Professor Papisca,

Thank you most sincerely for sending me a copy of your book "Noi, diritti umani - We, human rights". I look forward to exploring in detail this opus, where I am sure to find precious insights and sources of inspiration, coming from a longstanding advocate of human rights and international law, and a close partner of UNESCO, notably in your capacity as Chairholder of the UNESCO Chair in Human Rights, Democracy and Peace, located at the University of Padova.

I find fascinating your idea of "humanizing", in the context of a play, mixing the prose and poetry of law, a number of major international declarations, with a view to engaging them into an exchange where, eventually, dignity would emerge. This could be very stimulating, and certainly a brilliant way to raise awareness about the roots of international law, and its continued importance to all today. It is, I have to say, an inventive and bold way to honour the Magna Carta, which celebrated its 800th birthday in 2015.

With my renewed gratitude for your kind gesture and wishing all deserved success to "Noi, diritti umani", I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Irina Bokova
