Local Governments, Human Rights and Sustainable Development: Reimagining Human Rights Cities

The City of Gwangju is hosting the 9th World Human Rights Cities Forum. Since it was first held in 2011, World Human Rights Cities Forum has solidified its place as an international forum to learn, share and maximize the capacity of expertise and experience in the human rights arena, especially among the human rights cities. In WHRCF 2019, the theme of “Local Governments and Human Rights” will be discussed while “Reimagining Human Rights Cities” in eight thematic sessions in addition to about 30 other sessions and events.

WHRCF 2019 is inviting researchers, activists, and graduate students to present papers on human rights under the theme of Local Governments, Human Rights and Sustainable Development. Approved submissions will be presented in the Senior Session for senior scholars, experienced human rights activists, and PhD holders or in the Junior Session for young researchers, human rights activists, and graduate students.

*Note that you can apply only for one of the sessions and that the medium of presentation is English.
